

The Stanford University Center for African Studies

Is pleased to announce

The M.A. fellowship for African Studies

The Center for African Studies, with support from the School of Humanities and Sciences, will offer two partial fellowships to incoming M.A. students beginning with the class of 2011-12. All applicants for the M.A. program in African Studies are encouraged to apply.

DEADLINE: January 31st, 2011

Application instructions:

Write a two page essay on the following scenario: a foundation has offered you $50,000 to develop a project of your choice that would be undertaken in Africa. Describe what the project entails, why it is necessary, its significance, and how the project will be evaluated. Be sure to consider the question of sustainability over time. Tell us where in Africa this project will take place.

You may include this essay with your application materials or mail separately, by hard copy to the address below. To submit your application by email, identify your essay by "CAS M.A. fellowship application" in the subject line and send to lhubbard@stanford.edu.
